Article XXVI - TRIALS

SECTION 1 - GENERAL. As Symbolic Masonry is the foundation upon which Cryptic Masonry rests, every breach of the general Masonic law is a violation of the duty of a Cryptic Mason, but at the same time a Council has no control over the relations of a Mason to his Lodge, his Chapter, or his Grand Lodge or Grand Chapter. Every violation of the special obligations and laws of Cryptic Masonry is an offense for which one is answerable to the Council alone. A Royal Master or a Select Master, therefore, may be proceeded against for a trial in the Council for violation of the moral law; or of the general Masonic law if the offense involves moral turpitude, or of the constitution, laws, or regulations of the Grand Council; or of the by-laws of his Council.

SECTION 2. - PROCEDURE IN TRIALS. In the absence of any specific laws of the Grand Council on the subject, the laws of The Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of Colorado upon the subject of "Trials," with such necessary changes in forms and methods as will render them applicable, shall apply to and govern all actions taken by Councils upon charges of unmasonic conduct preferred in such Councils, except as otherwise provided in these laws or the regulations of the Grand Council.

SECTION 3. – CHARGES. Charges may be preferred against one who has been disciplined by a Lodge of Master Masons, or by a Chapter of Royal Arch Masons; and upon conviction in the Council a severer penalty may be inflicted than that imposed by the Lodge or Chapter.

ARTICLE XXVII - AMENDMENTS

SECTION 1. -TO LAWS. These Laws pertaining to the Grand Council or the Councils may be amended in one of two ways:

First, by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Grand Council, or their legally appointed proxies, present and voting at an annual assembly of the Grand Council, after the proposed amendment shall have been presented in writing to the Grand Recorder, by a member of the Grand Council. All such amendments and resolutions must be in the hands of the Grand Recorder by April 1st and by him mailed to the constituent Councils by April 15th.

SECOND, by the unanimous vote of the members of the Grand Council, or their legally appointed proxies, present and voting at an annual assembly of the Grand Council, after the proposed amendment shall have been presented in writing to the Grand Council by a member thereof; and provided further, that changes in any proposed amendment may be made by a three-fourths vote of the members of the Grand Council, or their legally appointed proxies, present and voting at such annual assembly, before voting on such amendment or amendments with such changes, at such assembly.

SECTION 2. – REPEAL. All laws or parts of laws, and decisions in conflict with this Constitution and these Laws are hereby repealed; provided, that such repeal shall not affect any right accrued under such repealed laws; and, provided, further, that this Constitution and these Laws shall take effect on and be in force from, the twenty-eighth day of January, 1966.
